

DADDY-DAUGHTER DATE

Have a daddy-daughter date. This will help them realize that our earthly father and our Heavenly Father care about us in the same way. Both want us to be happy and to succeed. You can play some of the following games:

Pictionary

Balloon relay

Pie eating contest (with the mini-graham cracker pie crusts from Keebler, filled with pudding)

Scripture chase

Volleyball

Indoor softball (play as if playing regular softball outside, but use a big plastic bat and a beach ball or a small plastic ball)

Another idea for the evening could be a talent show. Invite the YW to participate. The dads could even have a part in the night's program. The girls seem to love to show off their fathers.

You could also have this daddy-daughter date more formal. Come dressed in Sunday dress, have a dinner, and a short program (involving the girls). Work on one Personal Progress goal during the night. This would be a great way of starting to get the fathers involved in PP.

If you have a dinner: Ham and scalloped potatoes, green salad, corn, jell-o salad, rolls, & strawberry shortcake for dessert.

Close with prayer.
