

To My Beautiful Wife,

Words cannot describe my feelings at the close of this day, our first day together as husband and wife. My love for you is so complete and so pure; that my happiness is beyond anything I've ever imagined. I've thought, dreamed and prayed about this moment for such a long time, and how very much I wanted to make this decision; the most important one in my life; the right one. I want you to know as we knelt before the Lord today in His Temple; I have made the right choice; I've married the right person and I promise to love and cherish you throughout this life and all Eternity.

I'm so very proud of you, your decisions, as well as the life you have led, to prepare yourself for me, our children, and our Heavenly Father. I'm so grateful that in your preparation, you have come to know how important daily Scripture reading is and how much it helps an individual in everyday trials and tribulations. I'm proud of you for keeping a Journal and writing in it; your actions as well as your thoughts and feelings, whether they are good or bad. Now our children can learn from some of your own experiences and realize what a good mother you will be.

I want you to know how much it means to me that you decided a long time ago to be morally clean. I look on you now as the most virtuous woman on Earth and I know you always will be, just because you set that goal a long time ago.

I want you to know I watched how you treated your parents, especially your father, and that played an important part in deciding if you were the right one for me. I should not expect any better treatment than what you gave your father. I hope our children learn to honor us as parents, as you have honored your parents.

I feel fortunate that you as my wife, have set goals; personal goals, for yourself and strived to achieve them, I'm sure our Heavenly Father is very pleased that you were constantly trying to improve yourself and your testimony. I'm sure this has helped you to develop patience, and through your acts of service, your charity has increased. You will need both in being able to put up with me at times.

I am thankful that you are thrifty and have learned to manage your time and money wisely. This will help me so very much in being a good husband and father.

I am proud of you in your attendance at Seminary and Institute, and your strong testimony is proof that you took full advantage of these programs. I hope you recognize that I see you as a spiritual equal and not someone who I need to constantly push and pull along the straight and narrow path. We both need to work together to see our family back to the Celestial Kingdom. It will take as much faith and spiritual strength from you, as it will from me.

Last, but certainly not least, I'm glad you have a strong testimony of Prayer; that even when you were very young, you understood how important daily prayer was and that through your prayers, you were able to stay close to our Father in Heaven and seek His help and guidance.

Once again, I would like to tell you now how very much you mean to me. I'm so grateful that you support me as a Priesthood leader in our home. I will do the very best I can, and if I get out of line, please do not be afraid to get me back in shape. That is something I admire in you. Through hard work and sacrifice, this love of ours will continue to grow and blossom until we are brought before our Heavenly Father and Savior, Jesus Christ. I can't wait to say, "look Heavenly Father; look who helped me to return back to you. I love her so very much; please allow us to stay together forever."

Forever yours,

Your Husband

P.S. Don't forget Monday is Family Home Evening. I'll give the lesson if you prepare the treats.
